

LAYLAH SILVA BULMAN

DEVELOPER OF MINECRAFT LATINEXPLORERS

Even if you don't play video games, you've probably heard of Minecraft, the bestselling video game in history. Laylah Silva Bulman is a visionary creator who uses Minecraft to celebrate and promote Latinx culture. Inspired by her passion for technology and cultural education, Laylah mobilized an all-Latino team of developers to make the first-ever Latino-themed Minecraft map, LatinExplorers: A Hispanic Heritage Journey, in partnership with the Hispanic Heritage Foundation. By integrating Latinx leaders and landmarks into the game, this map fosters a deeper understanding and appreciation of Latinx culture and community. Today, Laylah leads innovative initiatives fostering digital skills, creativity, and critical thinking in students and educators around the world.
