

JAVON FORD

COSMETIC CHEMIST & SCIENCE COMMUNICATOR

Everyone's skin is a little bit different — but we all need to take care of it. After seeing how much misinformation is spread about skincare on social media, cosmetic chemist Javon Ford decided to start creating and sharing educational videos about what actually goes into the products people use every day. He breaks down soaps, face washes, sunscreens, and other products, explaining the ingredients in simple, straightforward terms so that the average person can take better care of themselves.
