TECH INVENTOR & ENTREPRENEUR

"If you show girls the power of technology, they can invent the future." Dr. Cori Lathan is a neuroscientist, biomedical engineer, and tech entrepreneur who uses technology to help people do things better. She co-founded AnthroTronix, a tech innovation firm which made a robot to help kids with disabilities, a sensor glove to train surgeons, a virtual reality system to study astronauts in space, and a computer game to track your brain health. She also serves on KID Museum's Board of Directors.
